ARMINIAN SKELETON.

Subscriptions are received at the Book Store of COTTON and STEWART, for a BOOK entitled,

THE SKELETONS:

Or, the Arminian Anatomized, and
The Carnal Preacher Dissected.

In two Parts.

Part I. The Arminian, or doctrine of Universal Charity pursued, taken, examined, tried, condemned, executed, and anatomized.

Part II. The Carnal Preacher Dissected, with comments on several dark passages of scripture. In a series of letters, written at various times to friends in the country.

Conditions, &c. are left at the above store.

It is the opinion of several respectable clergymen, that the above book contains the ground work and principles of genuine piety, as it manifestly proves, from the scriptures of truth, that the doctrine of free will and universal redemption is unsound.

CLERMONT,

house will be put in good repair for the reception of a careful tenant, and none else need apply.

Any person who wishes to become the tenant will call on the subscriber who will show the place.
This place is handsomely situated, having a good view of Alexandria from the house, and a very large meadow about two hundred yards below, excellent well water and two good springs, with an ice house and every convenience necessary for a gentleman farmer. For terms apply to Twenty Five Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber's farm, in the county of Alexandria, district of Columbia, a Mulatto man called NATT COOK, about 6 feet high, between 35 and 40 years of age, long hair which he wears tied, a lock of white hair on the front of his head, a little to the left, a cooper by trade; he has several scars on his arms and wrists, a scar on his back occasioned by a scald, and several marks from a whip; he is very fond of drink and gambling; he took with him a variety of clothes and some cooper's tools. He crossed the Potomac at Georgetown a few days since, and will probably make for Baltimore, as he has been very anxious for some time past to go to sea. I will give the above reward for securing said fellow in any jail, so that I get him again, or thirty dollars, with reasonable charges if brought home. All masters of vessels and others are forewarned harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow at their peril.

Late Foreign Intelligence.

Correspondence between Frere and the Prince of Peace.

For the better illustration of this correspondence, we shall re-insert the article in the Moniteur:

FROM THE MONITEUR, NO 184.

Madrid March 10.

"Frere, the English Minister at this place, seems to be much affected by the news which has arrived from Paris. A few days before he forgot himself so far, as to assert, in a conversation which he had with the Prince of Peace, that assassination and murder are lawful in the present state of things, to save England from the extraordinary situation in which it is placed. The prince of peace, bluntly replied: But, sir, should France adopt the same principle, nations would carry on war by the medium of assassins, instead of fighting with fleets and armies. I cannot help declaring, that this immorality would excite horror in the mind of his Catholic Majesty. For my part I can only tell you that the example of all ages proves, that crimes in the end always fall on the head of those who order, or are the instruments of them.

"Note by the Editor of the Moniteur.— The observation of the Prince of Peace has been verified; and at the moment when England was employing the Count d'Artois as an assassin one of the individuals of his family perished, as an atonement for the crimes, under the sword of justice. Infamous ci-devant Bishop of Arras, such is the result of your counsels!"

OFFICIAL.

Copy of the correspondence between the Prince of Peace and Mr. Frere, relative to the conversation ascribed to them in the Moniteur, No. 184.

[TRANSLATION.]

Madrid, April 7, 1804.

Sir,
Your Excellency has undoubtedly read the conversation ascribed to us by the French Official Gazeteers, concerning the late events in Paris. As I flatter myself that my colleagues, and the enlightened persons of the Court, will not be apt to credit stories so ridiculous and so diametrically opposite to the principles which they know me to possess, I might perhaps have dispensed with noticing a calumny which must reflect upon its authors, and should merely have invited Y. E. to estimate the accuracy of other accounts proceeding from the same source as this, of which you are at once the judge and witness. And yet, as it appears that the writer of that article presumes to ground his statement on the testimony of Y. E. it appears to me that I should in some manner be wanting to my own justification, and to the representation with which I am entrusted, were I to neglect appealing to that very testimony myself. Besides the official character of that accusation seems to demand an equally formal and authentic contradiction.

These considerations induce me to apply to Y. E. and to request that you will declare whether any such conversation did really pass between us, in which I asserted the principle imputed to me by the Official Gazeteer, and above all, as maintained by him before the Paris news arrived; in short whether Y. E. acknowledges the answer ascribed to you, and which concludes by a very intelligent threat of as-sination.

(Signed)

J. H. FRERE.

To H. E. the Prince of Peace.

Madrid, April 8, 1804.

Sir,
I have actually seen, that in the Madrid article, inserted in No. 184 of the Gazette, an account is given of a conversation between us, and I am waiting Sir, for your application to remove, by my answer, the unfavorable opinions you might have formed. But as in this kind of business the degree of probability entirely depends upon opinion, and our conferences, have taken place without either witnesses or hearsay, and it is impossible, therefore, they should have been transmitted to the Gazeteer with truth or accuracy, I deem the justification you require from me perfectly useless, since it will be indifferent to the Editor of the Gazeteer, whether he publishes a contrary statement to-morrow, the value set upon those accounts being relative to the truth they contain. Such has been my opinion when I have seen my character blackened in still darker colours; and he who should endeavour to restrain the actions of men, whom fortune has placed out of his power, would obtain no other end than that of giving himself constant uneasiness.

(Signed)

THE PRINCE OF PEACE.
Mr. Frere, Minister of England.

Madrid, April 10, 1804.

Sir,
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's note, and you will see by the date of this, that I have well reflected before I determined to renew so unpleasant a subject; but in truth, the longer I weigh the expressions of your Excellency's note, the less I find that they answer the purpose for which it was dictated, namely to remove the unfavorable opinions I might have formed.

Y. E. does me the honor to observe, that you expected me to take such a step; it was not, therefore, quite superfluous in itself. And, indeed, since I was to make application to Y. E. I do not see how it was possible for me to prefer a demand more moderate, or how I could now desist from it, without obtaining some way or other, a satisfactory answer. I am fully aware how delicate and difficult the present circumstances are: but if Y. E. did think it proper directly or indirectly to oppose the Official Gazeteer's assertion, it would, at least, have been possible, by stripping his attempts of all authority, to reduce it to that vague and conjectural character which you yourself have ascribed to it; for this purpose nothing more was required than that Y. E. should assure me your never had divulged any particulars of our conversation; since it is evident, that the Moniteur did not mean to cite future & clandestine witnesses but the very person of your Excellency. Y. E. might likewise have given a very plain and very natural testimony in my favor, namely that the only time I spoke with you upon the subject, I expressed an opinion precisely the reverse of that which the Gazeteer pretended to cite.

(Signed)

J. H. FRERE.

To H. E. the Prince of Peace, &c.

Aranjuez, April 13, 1804.

The Editor of the French Gaz. supposing, in his No. 184, that a conversation had taken place between you, Sir, and me, has been wanting in the consideration due to my character, by believing me capable of entering upon subjects unworthy of the greatness of soul which adorns me. I do not complain of his offence, and you cannot calm the perturbation of your mind at being implicated in it. How shall I be able to persuade you? I have nothing to add to the reflections contained in my preceding Note; may this answer to yours of the tenth prove more satisfactory, and let vague opinions circulate in arbitrary prints.

(Signed)

John Hookham Frere, Esq. Minister H. B.
Majesty.

Madrid, April 17, 1804.

Sir,
It had appeared to me, that my personal honor, as well as my Sovereign's; in fine, that the value I ought to set upon the good opinion of the Spanish nation, equally impelled me to take the step I have towards your excellency; and, tho' that greatness of soul Y. E. has so just a title to claim, had lessened the importance of those considerations in your eyes, I should still have flattered myself, that you would show some indulgence for the weakness of those who, on being conscious of those distinguished qualities which raise people above calumny, think, that there are instances in which a man, without being wanting to his own dignity, is called upon to shew some respect for public opinion. But if our notions upon the subject be greatly different, the situation we are in is no less so. On my part I am charged with having maintained an atrocious principle, while they put in the mouth of Y. E. sentiments worthy of your character. and such as all who are not strangers to your loyalty, must know that you yourself could have wished to have had ascribed to you, had I been capable of holding the language attributed to me.

I cannot, therefore, conceal that in the denial of Y. E. to disavow that conversation, I look in vain for that greatness of soul which you invite me to imitate, when silence on your part, costs you nothing but the sacrifice of my reputation, inasmuch at least, as it depends upon your suffrage.

Seeing myself deprived of this advantage, there still remains for me the satisfaction to think that I can desist from further importuning Y. E. upon the subject, and that I am able to await without im-perturbation of mind you ascribe to me, the decision of the public, the opinion of my colleagues, and that of the enlightened persons in this Court. They have ther-to been pretty decidedly in my favor, and I flatter myself they will prove sufficient to protect me, not only against the assertion of the Gazeteer, but likewise against the conjectures which may be built upon the silence of Y. E.

(Signed)

J. H. FRERE.

To H. E. the Prince of Peace.

Madrid, April 19, 1804.

Sir,
I cannot avoid returning an answer to your note of the 17th instant, as although its contents do not vary from the former one, concerning the opinions entertained in France, upon your character and mine, I see that you touch on other points of greater importance, such as the dignity of your Sovereign, and the public opinion.
This question is too serious, and ought not, therefore, to be blended with private interests. I will never believe that the King of England gives his ministers re-fections derogatory from his Majesty and dignity; I respect his high rank as I should and will not consent, Sir, to your making a court business of what is merely personal; you know Sir, that whenever you have called to converse with me, I have answered, that political affairs were not within my province, and that the King my master had his Secretary of State, through whose medium the demands of foreign courts were to be transmitted to him. To the other ambassadors and ministers I made the same observation; so that I have received their visits as mere objects of goodness and civility. Under such circumstances therefore, causes ought not to be confounded with subsequent events, nor ought what depends upon the private conduct of subjects, to be imputed to the edicts of the government. My sincerity has more than once prompted me to caution you, Sir, that some individuals about you could do you neither honor nor credit, since their reputation being blasted in other courts, no great opinion could be entertained of their morals in this. And do you know, Sir, whether or not these people may be the authors of the story published by the Paris Gazeteer? I have like wise mentioned several other things to you; and it was perhaps owing to my advice, that you avoided their consequences; as, for instance, general Bournonville's affair, when you were led to make yourself master of his papers.
Let your excellency call to mind my lesser conduct, and entertain a proper regard for the sincerity you have experienced from your affectionate servant.

(Signed)

The Prince of Peace.

If you chuse sir, I will give you an account of what has taken place to the knowledge of my master, that it may be forwarded to the ministers of his Britannic majesty thro' the channel of his Ambassador in London, and your excellency may, from the moderation and terms of my note, form an idea of the high respect I bear his Britannic Majesty, since, if it were not for this just consideration, I should not have answered your last note.

John H. Frere, Esq. Minister of H. B. M.

Madrid, April 20, 1804.

I yesterday received the note of Y. E. which I have read with all the attention merits. There is a very plain consideration which directly occurs to one's mind, namely, that Y. E. might have spared yourself the unpleasant task of continuing painful correspondence. Y. E. does me the honor to tell me, that, being no Minister, your correspondence cannot be drawn to any political consequence; and yet you propose to transmit it to the Minister of his Catholic Majesty in London, for the purpose, of shewing your respect for his Britannic Majesty. Y. E. adds, that without such motive you would not have thought yourself bound to answer my note.
Upon this I must observe, that expressions of personal respect from private individual Sovereigns, do not appear to me to be customary; and that, viewing the note of Y. E. in this light, I would not understand to lay it officially before His Majesty.

J. H. FRERE.
To H. E. the Prince of Peace.

Madrid, April 23, 1804.

I persuade myself that Y. E. will not be surprised at the course I take, and which is, in my opinion, the only rational one. Since I desisted in my note of the 17th from the demand of a disavowal, our correspondence could no longer have an object. From the moment that Y. E. declared that you would not be considered as a minister, I became sensible, that further discussions would only produce a personal altercation. This was the motive why I avoided discussing various points contained in the last Note of Y. E. and it is also the motive which influences me at present. When Y. E. has taken into consideration the situation you place me in, by stripping me as well as yourself of our ministerial characters, I am convinced you will not ascribe to a want of regard that which is, in reality, the result of the most serious reflection.

A new settlement has been made on Van Deman's land; it is called Fort Hobart, and is already in a thriving situation.

It is Lord Grenville Levison Gower, and not Lord George Seymour, who is going on a diplomatic mission to the Court of Petersburg. Lord Malmesbury is come to town on the occasion, and much importance is attached to the Embassy.

COMMUNICATION.

Duelling.—General Pinckney's remark on Duelling, in the Advertiser of Tuesday, brought to my recollection several reflections I have made on the barbarous practice of deciding private disputes by single combat. Though both religion and reason highly condemn the system, yet, like some other great evils, it has a spice of good; the apprehension sometimes restrains great intemperance of tongue, to which many persons are addicted, even on trifling occasions; and in no country, that I know of, is there a court where redress can be sought for abuse short of scandal; therefore, I cannot see any prospect or means of repressing the evil, but by instituting Courts of Honor by public authority, where reparation may be obtained suitable to the insult.

In many places the courts are troubled with complaints for assaults, when the assailant is generally punished by fine, let the provocation be what it may; this might be considerably remedied, to the relief of the courts, if on due proof of gross and provoking abuse, the complainant was also liable to a fine as well as the assaulter.

"The exportation of all sorts of grain and flour from this country to Spain and Portugal being now permitted, must render speculations on your side hazardous.

"We shall have an immense harvest and vintage this year. Wines and Brandies in particular are looking down. Colonial produce in general advancing."

On Sunday night the 9th inst. in the 33d year of her age, Mrs. ANN LEE, daughter of Richard Henry Lee, deceased, and consort of Mr. Charles Lee, late Attorney General of the United States.

Those who were comprised within the circle of this lady's acquaintance will long regret the loss of this distinguished ornament of her sex—of a temper mild and serene—of manners complacent and affable—with a mind richly endowed by nature, and highly refined by education, she continued to retain undiminished her social attractions through all the protracted stages of a pulmonary consumption.

At the house of Dr. Rose, in Alexandria on Wednesday the 12th inst. Mrs. ANN A. ROBINSON, aged 21 years, the amiable consort of Wm. ROBINSON Esq. of Westmoreland, after a long and painful illness, which she supported with that spirit of meek resignation, which so incessantly distinguished her through life.

This Lottery has been authorized by the Legislature of Virginia, for the laudable purpose of erecting a seminary of learning in or near the metropolis of this state. With this view it is contemplated to raise 20,000 dollars, and 2,500 dollars in addition, for defraying the expenses attendant on drawing the lottery. Citizens of the first respectability have been selected as trustees, and they have pledged themselves to use their utmost exertions to carry it into effect. The scheme has the advantage of giving to each adventurer a chance for some very large prizes, whilst the proportion of prizes to blanks, is so great as to invite the friends of the intended institution to participate in the lottery, with very little risk of their becoming losers. The treasurer of this state is to be appointed to receive the money for the tickets as they are sold, and to pay the amount of the prizes to fortunate adventurers. It is believed that the above considerations will induce a rapid sale of the tickets, and the drawing will commence as soon as a sufficient number shall be sold to authorize it—which it is believed will be on the second Monday in December next.

Richmond, Jan. 31, 1804.

Tickets to be had of Robert Pollard, Dr. J. Breckenborough, sen. Wm. Price, (Reg.) Samuel Pleasant, jun. and Wm. Pritchard.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.

Ranaway from the Subscriber living in York District, State of South Carolina, about the 29th of July last, a handsome mulatto boy, about sixteen or seventeen years old, and has a scar on his right cheek near his eye, which is quite visible. He is trim made and a little inclining to be hairy; keeps his hair trimmed and long; round the edges of his face, which he curls. He has passed himself as a free man since he left me; and he probably may have procured counterfeit papers to show himself free; sometimes telling he was a French barber, and it is believed he can speak some French, and at other times varying his story and saying he was a shoe maker, and will tell any story that he finds to suit his purpose. He was raised in Charleston. When last heard of he was near to Salisbury in North Carolina and said he was going to Richmond or Baltimore; and was taken up by a man and woman who was going that way in a chair, and had a lad horse which they permitted him to ride in the capacity of a waitingman, which business he is accustomed to. This last circumstance I have heard since he was advertised in the Richmond papers. He is very sensible and cunning, and will make his escape if not watched if he is taken. He is fond of dress, if he can get good clothes but is badly dressed, unless he has supplied himself since he left me, as he was taken shortly after he ran away, and by his address made his escape and left his baggage. Any person taking him and lodging him in any jail, so that I get him again, shall be entitled to the above reward.

ENGLISH ACADEMY.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he has engaged an assistant to his school, and means to enlarge the plan of it, he hopes, to the benefit and advantage of his pupils. The gentleman he has engaged has been almost thirty years employed in the didactic profession, and has acted as an assistant in eminent academies, ladies boarding schools, and as a private tutor in many genteel families.

The branches of learning which will hereafter be taught in his school are—SPELLING; READING, with propriety and grace; WRITING and ARITHMETIC in all its various branches; ELOCUTION; BOOK-KEEPING, either in double or single entry; GEOGRAPHY, with the use of globes and maps; and the ENGLISH LANGUAGE with grammatical accuracy, including composition.

A NIGHT SCHOOL.

ON Monday evening the 10th instant the subscriber will also open an evening school, and continue it until the 10th of March ensuing. He indulges himself with the pleasing hope that the foregoing plan will meet public approbation, as well as the countenance of his present employers. The conveniences of his school room, and his own steady attention to his pupils improvement, will, he trusts, sufficiently recommend him to the patronage of the public.

The Terms of Tuition

For day scholars are Three Dollars per quarter for such as learn to spell and read; writing or arithmetic Four Dollars and Fifty Cents; the English language, grammatically, book keeping, elocution, geography, including the use of the globes, maps, &c. Five Dollars and Fifty Cents. The terms for night scholars may be known on apply to

John Foster, Principal,

Who can well accommodate six youths with boarding.

N. B. The School is so constructed as to permit an entire separation, between the boys and young ladies, and either can be accommodated with boarding. Ink and Quills will be furnished gratis.

The terms of tuition for the scholar, now in school, will not be altered till the present quarter expires.

TRAVELS IN GREECE.

PROPOSALS,

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,

THE TRAVELS OF Anacharsis the Younger, IN GREECE:

During the middle of the fourth Century, before the Christian Era,

With copious Notes and References.

BY

THE ABBE BARTHELEMY,

Keeper of the Medals in the Cabinet of the King of France, and Member of the Royal Academy of Inscriptions and Belles Lettres.

Translated from the French.

First American, from the fourth London edition.

IN FOUR VOLUMES.

THE work now offered to the American reader exhibits a complete view of the antiquities, manners, customs, religious ceremonies, laws, arts, and literature of ancient Greece, at the period of its greatest splendour. A knowledge of these has hitherto been only attainable by a laborious perusal of writers who have been little solicitous to join entertainment with instruction. The Travels of Anacharsis, on the contrary, are so written, that the reader may frequently be induced to imagine he is perusing a work of mere amusement, invention, and fancy; till his eye glances to the bottom of the page, when he perceives there is scarcely a sentence, and not a single fact or circumstance, but is supported by the authority of some ancient author. The amazing number of these quotations may, perhaps at first sight, seem to have been unnecessary, and to have more the appearance of a parade of erudition, than to be of any real utility; but it is to be remembered that, at the same time that they must be highly acceptable to the man of real learning, by enabling him to refer immediately to the original author, they are extremely useful, nay, we may say, absolutely necessary, even to such readers as can never be supposed to have any intention to consult the authorities quoted; as they clearly shew that such an idea, or such a circumstance, is not merely a decoration, or the offspring of the fancy of the author, but immediately taken from some ancient writer, and therefore perfectly accordant to the general scope and plan of the work.

TERMS.

I. The first Edition in America of Anacharsis's Travels, will be comprised in four Vols. octavo.
II. It shall be printed on handsome wove paper and a new type casting for the purpose. Each Volume will contain about 400 pages.
III. The price to Subscribers, per Vol. bound and lettered, will be 2 dollars; in boards, 1 dollar and 75 cents, to be paid on the delivery of each Volume.
The European Edition sells at 12 dollars per set.

IV. There shall be a handsome Map of Greece given with the first Volume, to be executed by one of the best Engravers.
V. Those who obtain ten Subscribers and become responsible for the payment of the same, shall receive one copy gratis. The work is now at Press, and shall be finished with all possible dispatch.

Subscriptions to the above work received at Robert & John Gray's book Store, Alexandria.

TO BE SOLD,

ON Thursday the 27th day of September next on the premises, to the highest bidder, if so disposed of by private sale before that day.

THE TRACT OF LAND

whereon I now live, in Fairfax county, Virginia, on Pope's Head Creek, containing five hundred and fifty acres; the situation is agreeable and very healthy; there is on it an excellent mill seat, on the abovementioned Creek, with an inexhaustible quantity of excellent grey free stone, and an abundance of good red and white oak, poplar and hickory timber, to erect the dam and necessary buildings, on the spot; there is on this Creek which waters the tract for about two miles, a very considerable portion of the first quality meadow land, and a quantity of fresh land just opened and nearly half the tract is to cut. It is situated about twenty miles from George Town and Washington, and the same distance from Alexandria and Dumfries, and is justly considered the best piece of forest land in the county. The terms of payment will be, one third paid down, one third in eighteen months, and the other third in three years; an indispensible title will be made the purchaser, and the public are assured that the sale will take place, if not privately disposed of before the day of sale, as I am determined to remove to the state of Kentucky this fall.

ALSO,

On the same day and place, will be sold, all my STOCK of every kind, plantation utensils, household and kitchen furniture, and present crop now on hand, for ready money.
